1. Задания для текущего контроля успеваемости

2 курс

Тема 1. Пресса .Газетная лексика.

Тема 1. The article*Major Market Forces.*

Task 1. Read the text and try to understand the content of the article.

Major Market Forces.

1. Major Market Forces. Learning how these major factors shape trends over the long term can provide insight into why certain trends are developing, why a trend is in place and how future trends may occur. Here are the four major factors.

2. International Transactions. The flow of funds between countries impacts the strength of a country's economy and its currency. The more money that is leaving a country, the weaker the country's economy and currency. Countries that predominantly export, whether physical goods or services, are continually bringing money into their countries. This money can then be reinvested and can stimulate the financial markets within those countries.

3. Speculation and Expectation. Speculation and expectation are integral parts of the financial system. Where consumers, investors and politicians believe the economy will go in the future impacts how we act today. Expectation of future action is dependent on current acts and shapes both current and future trends. Sentiment indicators are commonly used to gauge how certain groups are feeling about the current economy. Analysis of these indicators as well as other forms of fundamental and technical analysis can create a bias or expectation of future price rates and trend direction.

4. Supply and Demand. Supply and demand for products, currencies and other investments creates a push-pull dynamic in prices. Prices and rates change as supply or demand changes. If something is in demand and supply begins to shrink, prices will rise. If supply increases beyond current demand, prices will fall. If supply is relatively stable, prices can fluctuate higher and lower as demand increases or decreases.

Words and word-combinations:

supply and demand	спрос и предложение
auditing	бухгалтерский учет
balance	сальдо
balance of payments	платежный баланс

Text . The economy of Great Britain and the USA

The economy of Great Britain is based primarily on private enterprise. The private sector accounts for 82 per cent of output and 79 per cent of employment. Since 1979 the government has reduced the state-owned sector of industry by about two-thirds under its privatization programme. It believes that economic decisions are best taken by those competing in the market place and that its primary roles are to help keep inflation low, maintain sound public finances and create the right climate for markets to work better. Government programmes provide direct assistance or advice mainly to small and medium-sized businesses. Government economic policies are aimed at raising productivity, increasing employment opportunity for all, providing educational opportunity for all, abolishing poverty, delivering public services, and achieving rising prosperity.

In 2012 growth in the UK economy continued. Gross Domestic Product (GDP) rose considerably. Recent decades have generally seen the largest growth in the service sector (finance, tourism, shipping and aviation) which now accounts for around two-thirds of GDP, compared with about one-half in 1950. Production of manufactured goods contributes less than one quarter of GDP, compared with over a third in 1950. Employment has grown over this period at a high pace. At the moment the economy is seeing the longest period of low inflation since the 1960s. In 2012 the Government investment rose by 15.4 per cent.

The United States of America. American farmers plant spring wheat in the western plains. They raise corn, wheat and beef cattle in the Midwest. Florida and California are famous for their vegetables and fruit production, and the north-western states are known for apples, pears, berries and vegetables. There are many important cities in the USA, for example New York, one of the largest cities in the world, a great seaport and financial centre, Chicago near the Great Lakes, one of the biggest industrial cities in the USA, and the second largest after New York. Boston is one of the first cities built on the Atlantic coast of America. Now it is a big cultural centre with three universities. Los Angeles in California is a centre of modern industries and show business. Other big cities in the USA are Philadelphia, Dallas, San Francisco, Washington, Detroit etc. From the beginning of the twentieth century the USA became one the world's leading country.

Business Plan.

The business plan is probably the most important the most important document that any company can have and yet it is also the least well known or used. All large companies have a business plan which is updated each year. The idea behind a business plan is like having a map before you set out into relative unknown territory. When businesses first begin they are normally run by one person and that person usually understand what he or she is trying to do. Within a very short space of time however the business can grow to a size where one person cannot keep all the possibilities and options in his or her own head and cannot fully understand all the possible ways in which the business needs to be controlled. Without a business plan it is almost impossible to obtain any form of financial assistance from a bank without a fully worked-out business plan. Usually business plan starts with an executive summary which gives the main points and conclusions of the plan so that a reader might be given the gist of the business plan very quickly without having to read everything. Then a description of the company usually comes.

Then comes a section of the management. Banks and other lenders will need to understand the quality and experience of the management of the company. This section will contain details of the names, ages, experience and qualifications of the management. It is also usual to say why the managers want to work in the company and how they see its future.

Many business plans also contain a section of products and pricing. This section describes the products and services which the company offers. This will normally be very detailed, listing each product or service and saying why the company is producing or offering it, what market it is designed to reach and how successful it has been. It will also say how those products have been priced and how the company intends to increase or decrease the prices over the next few years.

As a result I was left without a needed book. I would like the privilege of returning the defective book to you in exchange for a perfect copy. I hope it would be possible for you to replace it as soon as possible. I look forward to your answer.

Yours sincerely,

Text .Travelling on Business

- People started travelling in the ancient times. Travelling was really dangerous in those days but there were always brave people who went on discovering new lands, in search of wealth and fame. Nowadays things have changed significantly. Hundreds of travel agencies are willing to help you if you are planning to go somewhere. Holidaymaking has become one of the most profitable industries and the budget of many countries. Employees of different countries usually go on business trips. Business travel is the practice of people travelling for purposes related to their work. There are many reasons of going on business: to make a contract, to discuss different terms of delivery, payment or shipment, to have tests, to do consultancy, to improve one's professional skills, to work, etc. Business necessities may also include: trade fairs, participation in congresses or seminars, further education, excursions for research, scientific campaigns, study trips, school or exploratory trips etc. Business today is really international. Usually itinerary of the trip is carefully planned by the head of the department or an executive. Once the employee knows where he is going, he can investigate the airport, rail and hotel amenities to determine which will provide him with the best business services including good Internet access. Whether it is the first or thousandth business trip, the traveler should be conscious of conduct that is considered proper during the absence from the office. As a representative of the company, a businessman has to know how to behave appropriately on a business trip. These are some recommended steps to follow:

- to be prepared and be on time, it is not a good decision to be 10 minutes late for an important meeting.
- to use proper business language. Even though some business trips may include more casual (обыденный, повседневный) situations, such as lunch, dinner or even golf, it is better to keep in mind that you are still representing your company, and like the old saying goes, "Loose lips sink ships".
- to brush up on table manners and the basics of business etiquette (деловой этикет). This may help avoid some embarrassing (неловкий, неудобный) situations while on the trip.

Text . Production

Very often newspapers, journals and other publication and speeches give information on production of goods .Here is a report of a big English radio company executive at a conference. Well, ladies and gentlemen, it has been a very difficult year for us. We've had difficulties in production and our production record this year is not good. These are the figures; at the start of the year all our factories had been on strike for two months; the strike finished on January 29th, so in January we produced only two hundred radios. Production started slowly because of continued one-day strikes; in February we produced twenty eight thousand radios. Then the production figures increased every of the three months. In May we reached target figure of one hundred and forty thousand radios and in June we managed to produce one hundred and forty nine thousand radios. This last figure is the best production figure we have ever reached. Then e had the two-week factory holiday at the beginning of September, which accounts for the figure of eighty thousand radios for that month. In October production rose to one hundred and twenty thousand and then, for reasons beyond our control, we had our second major strike of the year. Some workers continued working, and others, mainly the engineers and maintenance people, took turns in staying away .In November we produced only one hundred thousand radios and in December ninety thousand. So our production figures for last year were, I am afraid, not very good.

Text: Sales

Here is what the executive of the English radio company said about sales of radios in the second part of his speech at the conference. Our sales figures however were quite encouraging. If you look at the graph in front of you can see the production figures, represented by the thick black line, and the sales figures- that's the broken line. To take you through these figures, in January we sold sixty thousand radios, and in February fifty five thousand/ although weren't producing at that time, we had large stocks in reserve/ In March sold only one thousand/ our stocks were exhausted, and couldn't get our newly produced radios to the shops on time. In April we sold twenty thousand radios-but April is always a bad month because of the Budget/ in May we started to get a little worried, because we sold forty thousand radios. So we started a major sales campaign, and in June our sales figures climbed to ninety nine thousand/ in July the campaign really took off and we managed to sell one hundred and sixty thousand radios. This continued through August and September, when we sold one hundred and fifty thousand and one hundred and seventy thousand. But then demand started fall. And it is very low at the moment. Our main problem is to start producing a new line of radios, which we are here to discuss.

TEXT. Basic terms in GNP and GDP

Countries buy and sell various goods as well as various services. Goods bought from abroad, such as food, cars, machines, medicines, books and many others, are called visible imports. Goods sold abroad are called visible exports.

Services such as insurance, freight, tourism, technical expertise and others are called invisible imports and invisible exports. The total amount of money a country makes including money from visible and invisible exports, for a certain period of time, usually for a year, is Gross National Product, or GNP.

The difference between a country's total earnings or GNP and its total expenditure is called its balance of payments. The difference between what a country receives for its visible exports and what it pays for its visible imports is its balance of trade. If a country sells more goods than it buys, it will have a surplus. If a country buys more than it sells, it will have a deficit.

Gross Domestic Product or GDP is the amount of money a country makes from goods and services inside the country for a certain period of time, usually for a year. When GDP is calculated different sectors of economy are analysed. In the UK the services sector accounted for roughly 60 per cent of Gross Domestic Product.

One day the king showed his pictures to a great painter who lived in his country and said: “I want to know what you think of my pictures. Do you like them? Am I a good painter or not?”

The painter looked at the king's pictures and said: “My king, I think your pictures are bad, and that you will never be a good painter.” The king got very angry and sent the painter to prison.

After two years the king wanted to see the painter again. “I was very angry with you,” he said, because you didn't like my pictures. Now I forget all about it. You are a free man again, I am your friend.” For many hours the king talked with the painter, and even asked him to dine. After the dinner the king showed his pictures to the painter and asked: “Well, how do you like them now?”
